

IPS IS HIRING! Communications Consultant (Part-Time)

The Institute of Policy Studies of Sri Lanka (IPS) has a vacancy for a creative and experienced communications specialist to strengthen our research dissemination process.

Requirements :

- Experience working in development communications, public relations, journalism, marketing or a related field.
- Ability to craft compelling content in various formats (e.g. press releases, policy briefs, blogs, and social media) based on IPS research to reach target audiences.
- Ability to visualise and/or develop high-quality, visually appealing infographics to communicate IPS research.

If you fit the above description, email your CV with contact details of two non-related referees and a cover letter detailing how your skills, knowledge and experience meet the requirements of the role.

Email: careers@ips.lk
Subject Line: Communications Consultant
Deadline: 21 February 2022

The successful candidate will initially be offered a three-month contract, which will be extended up to 15 months upon satisfactory performance.
For information on IPS, visit our website: www.ips.lk and our blogsite: www.ips.lk/talkingeconomics.